

Teen Talent Takes the Spotlight at WongaWits Bhopal Edition

After energising campuses across Delhi, Hyderabad, Pune, Lucknow, Guwahati, and Chennai, WongaWits Season 2 YES SECURITIES' flagship initiative and India's premier finance and stock market quiz made its vibrant stop in Bhopal, hosted at the esteemed National Law Institute University (NLIU).

Known for its academic excellence and strong intellectual culture, NLIU Bhopal set the perfect stage for an event that blended curiosity, competition, and financial learning.

The Bhopal edition witnessed an enthusiastic response with 154 registrations from students across the city, all competing to claim the title of the sharpest financial minds. The quiz, hosted by RJ Pihu from Big FM, featured dynamic and engaging rounds that tested real-world financial knowledge, market reasoning, and teamwork under pressure.

But the highlight of the day and a moment that electrified the entire auditorium was the stunning victory of two school-going participants, both just 16 years old, who outshone older college-level contenders with their exceptional grasp of finance, quick problem-solving, and remarkable confidence.

Their win not only reflected their personal brilliance but also showcased the growing financial awareness among India's teenagers, who are emerging as some of the most promising young investors of tomorrow.

The event concluded with a special felicitation ceremony where Dr. Debashri Sarkar, faculty at NLIU, was honoured by YES SECURITIES for her support and contribution to making the Bhopal edition a resounding success.
